

CANADIAN PARAMEDICINE RESEARCH DAY

JOURNÉE CANADIENNE DE RECHERCHE EN PARAMÉDECINE

The goals of this event are to provide educational opportunities pertaining to research and highlight paramedicine research across Canada and internationally by providing a forum for researchers to present their research. This research day will stimulate thought and discussion on diverse areas of paramedicine. Attendees are expected to include front line paramedics, paramedic students, leaders, residents, physicians, and others interested in paramedicine research.

- Registration is now open for the Second Annual Canadian Paramedicine Research Day on May 25th, 2023 from 7:30 MDT / 9:30 EDT – 15:30 MDT / 17:30 EDT
- There is an action packed agenda of world class speakers and research that will inform your practice
- This year's theme is "Trouble on the frontline: Evidence based approaches to paramedicine's biggest challenges"
- For those that can't watch it live, please register to access the speaker recordings online at your convenience for a year after the event
- Professional continuing education credits are available from many colleges and agencies across the country
